

Amy Stafford and Jonathan Hilfiker were married at 5 p.m. Saturday, May 15, 2010, at Center United Methodist Church, Snow Camp.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white imperial satin gown with a chiffon overlay. The sleeveless gown had a pleated bodice with a V-neckline and an A-line skirt that gathered at the beaded empire waist and extended into a chapel-length train. Her fingertip veil with beaded edge was attached to a silver tiara. She carried a traditional bouquet of white roses and purple hydrangeas.

Maid of honor was a friend of the bride and the bridesmaids were the sister of the groom and cousins of the bride. They wore sage green floor-length satin/chiffon strap gowns and carried mixed bouquets of purple roses, lavender and white mums.

Best man was a friend of the groom and the groomsmen were the brother of the bride and cousins of the groom.

Ring bearer was the nephew of the bride and the flower girl was the niece of the groom. She wore a white, sleeveless satin dress with sage green organza sash and carried a basket with white rose petals.

The aunt of the bride, served as wedding director and the guest registrar was the sister-in-law of the bride.

The groom's family entertained with a rehearsal dinner at Hayley Bales Steakhouse, Siler City the night before the wedding. Following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained with a reception at Center United Methodist Church.

The couple honeymooned in Kissimmee, Fla., and they live in Knightdale.
